African and Eurasian plates begin consuming Tethys Sea basin. Mid-Atlantic rifting begins as South American and Africa are separated. Australia/Antarctic landmass and American/Eurasian landmasses remain intact.

200 million years ago (Early Jurassic)
120 million years ago (Middle to Early Cretaceous)
88 million years ago (Late Cretaceous)
40 million years ago (Middle Eocene)